DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by WEST (5311689).

West relates to a memo sheet (50) comprising a sheet-like member having a front side and an opposite back side, and a fold line, as shown in figure-4, formed on the sheet member and dividing the sheet into a cover part (22) and a hidden part (52). A removable first pressure sensitive adhesive (PSA) (54) on the back face of the cover or the hidden part and a second removable PSA (28) provided on the back face of the cover. As shown in figure-4, the fold line is a marked line or a scored line. The opposite side edges extend in a transverse direction relative to the fold line and formed with a first second cut-out portions with the fold line extending between said cut-out portions (figure-4). The hidden part is smaller than that of the cover part.

3. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Dobbins (5887899).

Art Unit: 1772

Dobbins relates to a memo sheet (10) comprising a cover part (12) and a hidden part (12) with a fold line (14) therebetween. A removable adhesive (17) is located on the back face of the cover or the hidden part (figures 2 or 6). The fold line is a marked line (14) or a scored line (15). It is known in the perforation art , that the scores will exhibit cut-out portions at the intersection of said score line and the side edges of the sheet. The hidden part is smaller than the cover member. Figure 12 shows first and second adhesive (17, 17).
